GITLOW ARRIVES IN TEXAS, DENIES HE HAS BEEN LOST

Houston, Texas, October 14.—(P)—

Benjamin Gitlow, vice-presidential candidate of the workers' (communist) party of America, arrived in Houston late this afternoon for his scheduled address and denied that he had been "missing."

Gitlow told local communist leaders that he had stopped over in San Diego after he had received a telegram bearing the signature of the workers' party candidate for governor in Arizona, saying that Gitlow's speaking dates in that state had been cancelled.

Headquarters of the workers' (communist) party in New York, announced that Gitlow was "missing."

FLORIDIAN KILLS SELF BY BURNING CLOTHES

Tampa, Fla., October 14.—(AP)—An unidentified man fired his own funeral pyre here today in a clump of tall weeds and died three hours later at a hospital.

He saturated his clothing with gasoline, struck a match to himself and lay down in the high grass to die. Children playing nearby saw flames leap up in the field and ran to summon their father. Others were summoned and when they got to the man, the fire was burning out with the victim writhing on the ground. Police and an ambulance were called and the man rushed to the hospital.

Police attempted to talk to him for more than an hour, but he was in such condition that he could not tell his identity, although conscious until a few minutes before death relieved him. He was burned beyond recognition.

Neighbors around the field noticed the man leave the street and start across the field a few minutes before the fire. He was hatless and clad in a light-colored suit.

The bottle was found near the burned spot. It had contained gasoline. Nearby was a piece of paper with the name "J. Aquila" scrawled on it, but the police disregarded the note in their attempt at identification.

J. Mack Cathcart, justice of the peace, conducted an inquest and declared death was due to suicide.

BEAUTYADVICE

Learn how to remove powder and rouge

Employ this treatment of beauty oils to combat blackheads, enlarged pores, blemishes. Find how naturally lovely your skin is.

AGE is a challenge to beauty. Today—the woman of forty or fifty refuses to let the years conquer her loveliness. She protects her treasured complexion, first index to enduring beauty.

Only a soap of Nature's beauty oils—those of olive and palm—will cleanse the skin thoroughly and gently at the same time. Such a soap as Palmolive.

Each night—to gain a charming skin—do this:
Remove all trace of rouge and powder, of dust and grime, of oil secretion and dead skin by massag-

Emory university medical department also will be demonstrated by exhibits. Experts will be present to explain all exhibits.

Approximately 200 firms and medical institutions have contributed to the showing.

Diagnostic clinics on the morning program today will be conducted by Dr. C. Jeff Miller, professor of obstetrics and clinical gynecology, Tulane university of Louisiana school of medicine; Dr. Walter A. Bastedo, assistant clinical professor of medicine, Columbia university college of physicians and surgeons; Dr. John M. T. Finney, professor of surgery, Harvard university; Dr. Donald C. Hallowell, professor of surgery, University of Minnesota; and Dr. Lawrence R. DeBurs, professor of pediatrics, Tulane university of Louisiana.

Noon intermission will occur at this point and in the afternoon Dr. John F. Erdmann, professor of surgery, New York post-graduate school of medicine, will conclude the diagnostic clinics. A symposium on gastro-intestinal diseases will be participated in by Dr. Porter P. Vinson, of the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., and Dr. Donald C. Hallowell, professor of surgery, University of Minnesota.

Entertainment. On the entertainment program for attending ladies of the assembly will be a fashion show at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the tea room of the Davidson-Taxon company, which event for review of exhibits will occur at this juncture.

The annual banquet of the assembly will be held at 8 o'clock Friday night, with a program presenting distinguished international speakers. Hosts of the international assembly are the Fulton County Medical society. Mrs. L. G. Hardman is honorary general chairman of the ladies' committee, while Mrs. James N. Brainer is general chairman.

LETTER PROVES HOOVER FIXED WHEAT PRICE

On the advice of committees representing agricultural interests appointed by President Wilson, and that Mr. Hoover was in no way connected with or responsible for these prices, I feel that as the chairman of the national agricultural advisory committee, appointed by President Wilson, and in behalf of this committee, I should now

"After a very full hearing, and after general debate, the committee with all respect disregarded the views expressed by Mr. Hoover's cable message and by his representatives. They voted unanimously that the price be advanced on the 1919 crop to $2.46 per bushel, which was 20 cents above the 1918 crop then prevailing. The president was so advised."

"On Mr. Hoover's return to the United States he felt and expressed disappointment at the action of the committee with this question.

"I should not have felt it incumbent upon me to make this statement, if the attempt had not been made to fix upon this committee responsibility for action which the official records will show it had unanimously refused to sanction."

"It is true that the price of $2.20 for the 1918 wheat crop (later raised to $2.26 to cover freight increases) was based on the recommendations of a special committee. But it is also true that the continuation of this price for the 1919 crop in the face of a large increase in the price of all other commodities was in opposition to the advice of the national agricultural advisory committee which unanimously recommended a price 20 cents a bushel higher."

Trick of Republicans.

"The price for the 1918 crop, before the great rise in war prices took place, was generally accepted by the farmers as fair and reasonable. It is by the trick of directing attention to this earlier price that the republican spokesmen have sought to confuse the voters and evade the issue."

"When the time came to fix the price for the 1919 crop the situation was entirely changed. The wheat grown throughout the country claimed that during the year there had been large increases in the cost of farm labor, farm machinery and everything else they had to buy. They urged, therefore, that they were entitled to a substantial increase. This was recognized by a substantial majority of both houses of congress."

"That was the situation when the national agricultural advisory committee was summoned to meet in Washington on August 6, 1918, for the special purpose of exercising its advisory function on the question of the government price for the 1919 wheat crop."

"On the day before this meeting a cable message from Mr. Hoover, who was then in Europe, was handed to me by one of Mr. Hoover's assistants (I think Mr. Rickard) with the request that I use every possible and proper influence with this committee to carry out the wishes of Mr. Hoover."

Hoover's Cable.

"While I do not have a copy of this cable, which I think I returned to Mr. Hoover, it is clear that the committee to approve the existing price of $2.26 for the 1919 crop, and to defer action upon it until a later date."

"This suggestion was reinforced by three representatives of the food administration, who appeared before our committee and supported Mr. Hoover's views. These gentlemen contended against any increase in price at that time."

"The committee also had before it a number of government officers, including Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, and some representative grain growers from various sections, who presented evidence showing the large increase in the cost of producing wheat and urged a substantial increase in the government price."

"When it became clear that the committee was not disposed to accede to Mr. Hoover's wishes that the price of $2.26 should not be increased, one of the food administration's representatives presented a compromise resolution providing that this price should be made the minimum for the 1919 crop with a recommendation that the food administration and the grain corporation should later increase this price if they deemed it right to do so."

WORK ADMITS MOST OF PEOPLE IN DEBT

Republican Chairman Declares We Have Prosperity But All Owe Money.

Chicago, October 14.—(AP)—Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the republican national committee, declared in a statement today that "there is but one important political question before the public which now it understands thoroughly." That question, Dr. Work declares, is "whether or not the present prosperous condition of the country shall be interrupted by a change of party administration at a time when most people are in debt but still solvent."

At the beginning of his statement, Dr. Work declared that although "Governor Smith complains that he cannot understand Mr. Hoover's language, the public apparently does."

Dr. Work assures "Mr. Raskob (John Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee) that he will promptly repudiate any statement made against Governor Smith with the consent of the chairman of the republican national committee. If made, I will promptly repudiate it."

"I will cooperate to the fullest extent toward keeping the issues of the campaign free from vituperation, personal abuse and falsifying of just acts of either candidate," Dr. Work continued. "In fairness, however, I should warn him that members of his adopted party are circulating scurrilous matter under congressional franks in the south, which he should know about and take cognizance of."

Barred From Ward, Baby Writes "Notes"

To Suffering Mother

"Dear Mother: I hope you are feeling better tonight and—"

A good enough start for a note from a daughter to a sick mother? Surely, and that is just the kind that Charlie Welch writes to her mother, Mrs. George Welch, in Grady hospital, each night.

Of course, Charlie is only 6, and her "notes" might not be very legible to an adult, but if you ask her what she is writing as she labors with pencil and paper she will quickly "read" you something like the above.

It all comes about because Charlie is so much to young to be allowed to go into the wards to see her mother. So she comes each night at visiting hour to the hospital with her relatives and goes into the telephone operator's office downstairs.

Here the operator gives her a pencil and paper and she starts her "writing." After minutes of laborious effort she folds the paper, now covered with weird-looking hieroglyphics, and hands it to the operator with a lapsed request to "Send it to mother."

An orderly is then called, the request is repeated and he hastens to the sick mother.

The "notes" would indeed puzzle the prosaic grown-up, but the little girl can easily "read" them. And who knows, probably that white-faced mother on the floor above can also "read" a great deal of joyous news in them.

MUSSOLINI ANNOUNCES NEW POLICY ON FARMS

Reforestation and Government Aid Causes Increase in Yield, He Says.

Rome, October 14.—(United News.) A new spirit among the rural population of Italy which is resulting in greatly increased production on farm lands was viewed today by Premier Benito Mussolini. The premier discussed in detail the agrarian situation and presented annual prizes to farmers at a huge meeting at the Argentine theater.

The government's policy henceforth will give first place to agriculture, Mussolini said, in forecasting a new era for farmers.

He gave an analysis of the present crop, which showed that the Italian farmers had faced exceptional hardships through excessive rains, followed by drought in the summer, but the harvest will be much larger than last year.

"Since I gave agriculture first place in the policy of the government," he said, "a new spirit has arisen from one end of Italy to the other. This agricultural army perfects itself by fighting. I am doing everything possible to enhance the well-being of the rural people. The day of prevalent urban government policy has passed. All of our cities have been voted sums reaching into billions, not always for necessities, but often for embellishments. Now it is time to dedicate billions to the fields and at the same time to avoid the phenomenon of population decadence which already has caused anguish in many nations."

To Foster Reforestation.

Mussolini described how the rocky Apennines were destitute of trees, which wrenched an atmosphere of aridity and non-productiveness. He said, however, that the government, in pushing reforestation, though it takes time will help notably in the problem of summer droughts. The government is sponsoring the planting of 50,000,000 trees and promoting irrigation schemes, he said.

"We will not only encourage these projects but will support them," he said.

Mussolini announced that 50,000 farmers would visit Rome on November 4 to celebrate the tenth anniversary of the Italian armistice.

HOME-MADE PLANE KILLS TWO FLIERS IN OHIO CRASH

There is a peculiar affection in every heart for lamp-lighting time. The lamps cooperate more than any one thing in accentuating the beauty of a room.

The new blue-greens and golden yellows seem to have been inspired by sunsets, and with the mellow light behind them the colors are glorified.

Antique pottery base with genuine parchment or Chinese money shades—and artful designs are limitless in this lately arrived collection.

Each of these prices includes the new Jugo-Slovakian and Italian pottery, in jade, blue, rose, yellow and antique white—and this is the new in lamps—with genuine parchment shades of same color, or blending colors.

The economy of Philibosian prices—a very important thing—is stressed in the low pricing of these smart lamps.

Congressman Brand Assails Republican Party's Record In Lawrenceville Address

Speaker Defends Candidacy of Smith and Scores Hoover's Political Attitude.

Lawrenceville, Ga., October 14.—Judge Charles H. Brand, of Athens, spoke here Saturday afternoon at the courthouse in behalf of the democratic party and Alfred E. Smith. He spoke at length to an audience of farmers, business men, women and people of all walks of life.

Congressman Brand was introduced by Colonel M. D. Irwin, who paid the speaker a high tribute and stated to the audience that he was a man who would tell them the truth, and who was honest, upright, and whose integrity was unblemished.

When the judge arose to begin his address he was so full of emotion that he stood for several minutes visibly affected before he could commence his speech. He was frequently applauded when he laid bare the reality of the republicans of the past several years.

Judge Brand began his address by reading from the first one of the Letters of Junius, which was written one hundred and fifty-five years ago, which he says announced an axiom which is true now as it was then.

"The ruin or prosperity of a state depends so much upon the administration of its government that to be acquainted with the merit of a ministry, we need only observe the condition of the people. If we see them obedient to the law, prosperous in their industry, united at home, and respected abroad, we may reasonably presume that their affairs are conducted by men of experience, ability, and virtue. If, on the contrary, we see a universal spirit of distrust and dissatisfaction, a rapid decay of trade, dissensions in all parts of the empire, we may pronounce without hesitation that the government of that country is weak, distracted, and corrupt."

His Deflation Policy. Under Wilson's administration cotton was selling for over 40 cents a pound, within a few months it went down to 10 cents. "This was due to the deflation policy of 1920, which was first suggested by republicans at the republican national convention held in 1920. Subsequently this suggestion flowered into full fruitage when the deflation policy of 1920 was suddenly and secretly promulgated by the republicans to break from one end of the nation to another, especially in the south and west, followed by the wiping out of the savings of a life time of millions of peoples, and which I regard as the blackest crime in the most damnable conspiracy of the ages."

Referring to the McNary-Haugen farm relief proposal, Mr. Brand stated: "Not one in a thousand men ever read the McNary-Haugen bill, yet it is the most important national event in the history of our government since Lincoln was elected president on an anti-slavery platform. Southern bankers, southern merchants, southern editors, and some of the southern farmers have given the bill no study and not one in a hundred of them knows what it means."

"First, it must not be forgotten, the judge said, that Mr. Hoover was a member of the House-Congress administration, and second, that he has declared that he will carry out the policy of Mr. Coolidge. This being true, it logically follows: If Hoover is elected president and if congress again passes the McNary-Haugen bill, or similar legislation, will veto the bill, as Coolidge did on two different occasions."

Smith Is For Bill. "Governor Smith has unequivocally declared that he is in favor of the principle involved in the McNary-Haugen bill and I have not the slightest doubt when this bill or similar farm relief legislation is again enacted by congress that he will approve the same."

The Each-Cummings bill "is a monstrous piece of legislation which the republican convention put upon the country, enormously increasing the freight rates upon everything the farmer has to sell," he said. "Like the tariff bill, which puts a tax upon every person who has to purchase the necessities of life."

Toucheing on the subject of relief for veterans, Judge Brand said: "If Governor Smith is elected president, I have strong hopes of having a bill passed which I introduced into congress giving the veterans of the world war the option of surrendering their certificate of insurance payable twenty years from date of its issue and receiving the cash value of it. Hoover is opposed to this bill and so is Coolidge and Mellon. Governor Smith's record in behalf of the soldier boys, leads me to believe that if he is elected and is backed by a democratic congress, that this bill will get out of the hands of the republicans, and if it does, there will not be a corporal guard to go on record voting against it either in the house or the senate."

Judge Brand also discussed the Force bill, and the Dyer anti-lynch bill, both of which are republican measures, both infamous, and both aimed at the southern people, and both likely to become laws if Hoover and a republican congress are elected, and never will become a law if democrats are elected.

Religious Issue. Judge Brand, referring to the religious issue, made it clear that Governor Smith will not be influenced by his religion in the administration of the office of president should he be elected. He stated that there are only about eighteen million Catholics in the United States and only about five in the senate and about 30 in the house. The judge said that he had no fear whatever of this Catholic question and none on earth that the pope of Rome would have any influence over Governor Smith if elected.

The question of how, when and where city employees shall receive their respective honorariums is expected to prove a bone of real contention in city council meeting this afternoon. The question of the city employees' introduction of an ordinance calling for the centralization of city bookkeeping under the comptroller's department and establishment of the office of city paymaster.

Several councilmen, including W. E. Saunders and Tom Smith, are expected to back Mr. Millican's proposals, while another group, led by Alderman Claude Ashley, will oppose the proposed action.

Mr. Millican was the chairman of a committee which drew up the proposal after it had been asked by the mayor to investigate the system of city reimbursements. Advocates of the action will argue that the bill will make for greater efficiency by centralization of bookkeeping and the establishment of a single paymaster. Under the present system departmental employees are paid separately by special paymasters.

The opponents of the action will argue that the bill would not make for efficiency and would actually make necessary the hiring of more employees, as clerks in various departments now do the paymaster work as well as other tasks.

Councilman Saunders also announced Saturday that he will strongly oppose the action by council of a plan to erect a $4,800 addition to the Sylvan Hills school and will argue that repairs to the Kirkwood school are more essential than the proposed addition.

Several other routine matters will also be dealt with at the meeting.

The question of the city employees' introduction of an ordinance calling for the centralization of city bookkeeping under the comptroller's department and establishment of the office of city paymaster.

Several councilmen, including W. E. Saunders and Tom Smith, are expected to back Mr. Millican's proposals, while another group, led by Alderman Claude Ashley, will oppose the proposed action.

Mr. Millican was the chairman of a committee which drew up the proposal after it had been asked by the mayor to investigate the system of city reimbursements. Advocates of the action will argue that the bill will make for greater efficiency by centralization of bookkeeping and the establishment of a single paymaster.

Under the present system departmental employees are paid separately by special paymasters. The opponents of the action will argue that the bill would not make for efficiency and would actually make necessary the hiring of more employees, as clerks in various departments now do the paymaster work as well as other tasks.

Councilman Saunders also announced Saturday that he will strongly oppose the action by council of a plan to erect a $4,800 addition to the Sylvan Hills school and will argue that repairs to the Kirkwood school are more essential than the proposed addition.

Several other routine matters will also be dealt with at the meeting.

ANITA STEWART TO MARRY SCION OF RICH FAMILY

Reno, Nev., October 14.—(AP)—George P. Converse, member of a wealthy New York family, was free today to marry Anita Stewart, motion picture star, to whom he said he was engaged yesterday after Mrs. Olivia Converse, of Santa Barbara, obtained a quick divorce here.

But Mrs. Stewart's status was embroiled by the California courts which granted her an interlocutory decree of divorce in Los Angeles several months ago from Rudolph Cameron. That decree does not become final until one year from the date it was signed.

Converse, grandson of the late Edmund Cogswell Converse, organizer of the Bankers' Trust company of New York and a former president of the United States Steel corporation, filed the suit for divorce yesterday, but a quick cross-complaint from his wife won her the decree.

The $50,000 Converse home in Santa Barbara was given to the wife under the terms of an out-of-court agreement which provides that she will receive $600 a month until the income of Converse reaches $50,000 a year, when the alimony will be increased to $750 monthly.

SALVATION ARMY BAND TO GIVE TWO CHURCH PROGRAMS

Dates for two Salvation Army band concerts were announced Sunday by Colonel Walter Peacock, band officer, to be given at Woodward Avenue Baptist church Tuesday night of this week and at Wesley Memorial church Tuesday night of next week, under auspices of the Alpha class. Both will be joint benefits for the Salvation Army and the sponsoring church groups.

Staff Captain J. R. Leiby, Georgia divisional commander, formally commissioned local officers of Atlanta Corps No. 1, at 54 Ellis street, Sunday night. Each Salvation Army corps is headed by a fully commissioned officer, specially trained to give his full time to its work, who is assisted by a staff of unpaid volunteer local officers regularly employed in civilian pursuits outside the army and who devote all their leisure time to the army. Adjutant Fred Fox is the commander at Corps No. 1.

PASTOR HERE REJECTS CALL FROM NEW YORK

Rev. Robert D. Kilgour Announces Decision To Stay at Gospel Tabernacle.

A call to the Gospel Tabernacle of New York city, extended to Rev. Robert D. Kilgour, pastor-evangelist, of the Atlanta Gospel Tabernacle, on Capitol avenue, was declined by that minister in a statement to his congregation Sunday morning. The call came to him ten days ago, following an enormous he filled in the New York church.

The Gospel Tabernacle, of New York city was founded by the late Dr. A. B. Simpson, distinguished Presbyterian clergyman and writer, 35 years ago, and is located on Eighth avenue near Forty-fourth street, now in the heart of the theatrical district. Plans have been made to sell the present holdings and erect a new edifice, costing $200,000, further uptown, Mr. Kilgour said.

In declining the New York call, Mr. Kilgour stated that he felt his ministry here is unfinished, and described plans for a commodious steel frame tabernacle, to be built as soon as practicable on a suitable site, and designated as "a city-wide center of aggressive evangelism."

The minister also announced the coming here in November of John Wesley Lee, noted Chicago evangelist, for a series of meetings.

In addition to his pastoral work, Mr. Kilgour is teacher of a union Bible class held in the tabernacle every Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock and composed of about 400 members, drawn from 32 Atlanta and suburban churches.

Life Termer, Two Others Escape From Chain Gang

Monroe, Ga., October 14.—(AP)—Jack Kenton, alias Martin, of Toledo, Ohio, one of three confessed slayers of E. R. Hogan, broker at Macon, Ga., last March, and two other prisoners, one a negro, escaped from the Walton county chain gang today.

Details of the escape were not known, the name of the white prisoner accompanying Kenton was given as Dozier. Police said the three had made their getaway in a stolen automobile and had gained a long lead on their pursuers.

Kenton and his confederates in the Macon slaying, Bernard Shryver and Leo McIntosh, alias George Hall, were arrested in Knoxville, Tenn., ten days after the slaying. The trio drew life terms. Kenton, first assigned to the Bibb county gang, later was sent to Walton county when he requested the transfer.

Expressing the utmost confidence in Dr. B. D. Gray, former secretary of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention, and deploring the circumstances which brought about his "retirement" coincident with the absconding of the former treasurer, C. S. Carnes, the resolutions adopted by the church in session, set forth that Dr. Gray had been done a wrong in that he was removed from his post as secretary before the expiration of his one-year term.

"As a church, we feel that Dr. Gray's retirement from the secretaryship of the home mission board is very untimely and that the great cause of home missions of the southern Baptists is losing one of its most powerful leaders for the effective presentation of this work."

"Without desire to criticize the action of the home mission board in dispensing with the services of Dr. Gray as secretary, thus cutting short by more than six months his contract for the year's services, we feel that in so doing a wrong has been done our brother and friend, Dr. B. D. Gray, in having his retirement coincident with the absconding of the former treasurer, C. S. Carnes."

The paper was signed by Rev. L. E. Roberts, pastor; E. D. Barrett, church clerk, and T. H. Porch, James A. Northcutt and Robert S. Rosser.

PEACHTREE CHRISTIAN CHURCH DEDICATED

Completing week's services of dedication, the Peachtree Christian church Sunday morning dedicated the entire church to the service of the Lord and first regular services were conducted Sunday night by Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, editor of the Christian Century, of Chicago, specially invited speaker for the occasion.

Impressive services commemorated the dedication of the church Sunday morning, which followed solemn communion of the church members. Dr. Morrison preached the sermon also at the morning services, in addition to speaking at the "evening bells" service at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Social Notes From Brookhaven.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Whitten and children, of East Point, were week-end guests of Mrs. C. C. VanPelt, on Sylvan drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Jones spent Friday in Milner.

Mrs. J. P. Cantrell and Mrs. V. R. Wall attended the Atlanta Baptist association at Druid Hills Baptist church Wednesday.

Fashion Show and Dance Planned For Visitors' Entertainment Today

Mrs. William E. Campbell, chairman of the entertainment committee of the women's auxiliary to the Fulton Medical society, will stage a brilliant fashion show and dance on the sixth floor of Devision-Paxon company this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in compliance to the visiting guests of the Post Interstate Graduate assembly convening in Atlanta this week. Mesdames J. W. Roberts and Glenville Giddings, vice chairmen, will assist Mrs. Campbell.

Devision-Paxon company in hearty cooperation with women's auxiliary members of Fulton County Medical society to make the event great success.

At 2 o'clock and mothers are urged to bring their children under six who need examination and treatment.

The Brookhaven Baptist Missionary society met Monday at the church with Mrs. J. E. Echols, president, presiding.

Mrs. Carl Buice, was elected leader of the "Sunbeams" and it was decided to hold the first meeting tomorrow afternoon at the church at 3 o'clock.

The Potter-Spiker dancers will give eight beautiful dances in connection with the show, and many unusual and beautiful fall fashions—exact replicas of the outstanding successes of Violet, Augusta Bernard, Chanel, Lanvin, Beer, Patou and other leading Parisian designers.

The Potter-Spiker dancers will present eight dances under the personal direction of Mrs. Potter-Spiker. This is the first time this remarkably talented and directed group of pupils have ever appeared outside of private recitals. Enrico Leide and his orchestra will furnish a specially prepared program of music.

It was Mrs. Saratt's birthday and she entertained at a spend-the-day party. Mrs. E. A. Veal assisted in the entertaining and the day was pleasantly spent by the club members. Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the gracious hostess were Mesdames R. T. Sills, Harry Ray, D. K. Palmer, Thomas McLain, Emma Bain, J. R. Wright, James Greene, O. A. Biddle, Ben Sykes, Charles Cadora, Henry Cox, Jr., E. A. Veal.

The B. Y. P. U. of the University Baptist church, held a business meeting and a "tacky" party at the home of Mrs. W. M. Hannan, on Oglethorpe drive Friday evening. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. B. Chapman and Mr. Lancaster. Forty were present.

Brookhaven P. T. A. is sponsoring "Musical Appreciation" in the school.

Mrs. Thomas McLain was elected president and with such a leader, the association hopes to reach all the required standards this term.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

JIMMY SKUNK MEETS A FOOLISH DOG.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

The foolish young from knowledge turn
And good advice they lightly spurn.

Jimmy Skunk had nothing much to do these days. His chief interest in life was in eating. He had grown fat on grasshoppers. Just now grasshoppers were not so easy to get and Jimmy was given to wandering about. Jimmy is such an independent fellow that he can wander almost where he pleases. He doesn't feel that he must be near home. He can find a place to curl up almost anywhere for a nap and feel reasonably safe. You see, he is so very much respected by all who know him that he seldom has any worries on his mind. The only one who really worries him is Hooty the Great Horned Owl. That little bug of scent that Jimmy carries has no terrors for Hooty.

On this particular evening Jimmy had wandered some distance from Farmer Brown's. In fact, he was over on the next farm. He had never been there before and he was finding it interesting. It is always interesting to explore. It was just dusk. Jimmy had just reached an old barn. It looked interesting. He decided he would look around underneath it. There must be mice around an old barn like that. Jimmy has a liking for mice. He began to look for a place to crawl under. Suddenly Jimmy heard a snuffing sound. It didn't scare him at all. He stopped, and that big plume of a tail of his snuff to go up something. There it was again—sniff! sniff! Suddenly, from around a corner of the barn, appeared a dog. He was a small dog and a very lively dog. He stopped abruptly when he saw Jimmy. Perhaps he mistook Jimmy for a cat. Then he became excited. He began to dance about and to bark. He would make short rushes at Jimmy and then dance away.

"A dog," said Jimmy to himself, "a stranger dog. A foolish dog. It looks to me as if I would have to teach him a lesson. He acts to me as if he really means to be a dog. He is silly of him! Well, the young must learn by experience. Experience is a great teacher. My, how excited he is getting! Well, I'll give him a signal anyway."

So Jimmy raised his big plume of a tail straight up. Any one who knows Jimmy Skunk knows that that is a warning signal. It means "Watch out! You are in danger. Don't come any nearer."

But the foolish young dog only became more excited. He pranced this way and danced that way. He barked

Erlanger.

"Wings," the very latest success in the big picture entertainment, begins the second and final week at the Erlanger theater today showing twice daily at 2:30 and 8:30, with all the stage settings, accessories and special musical score of the New York presentation. There is romance, adventure and love interest unfolded in the story of "Wings," of delicate heart appeal rarely attained in the tales of notable import pertaining to great subjects and incidents culminating from the world war.

Keith's Georgia.

Keith's Georgia today opens its doors on a new show headed on the screen by Richard Dix in "Moran of the Marines," with Ruth Elder in support, and on the stage by George Broadhurst and company in the comedy "The Pirate's Den." "Moran of the Marines," is a comedy drama of romantic inclinations with its scenes laid in America and China.

Howard.

Al Jolson's latest and greatest Warner Brothers Vitaphone picture, "The Singing Fool," opened Sunday night at a midnight matinee at the Howard theater. A capacity audience sat enthralled as the great blackface artist sang his way into their hearts. "The Singing Fool" is by far the finest thing that Vitaphone has brought to the screen—ask anybody who saw it last night. To accommodate the huge throngs of patrons, the Howard management is opening the doors at 9 o'clock each morning, two hours earlier than schedule.

Metropolitan.

H. Graham Phillips, "The Grain of Dust," a story dealing with the overwhelming influence of sex allure, is the Metropolitan's feature presentation for the week. A man, a good man, is in love with a beautiful girl who is good, but the love has an almost insane desire for a vulgar, stupid woman who finally drags him down off the pinnacle of fame and success to ruin.

Alamo No. 2.

Billie Dove, whose starring film, "The Heart of a Foolies Girl," is coming today to the Alamo No. 2 theater, is at home in her dancing beauty role. Miss Dove has been a dancer since she was six years old. Larry Kent is Miss Dove's leading man in "The Heart of a Foolies Girl." The film is a North Carolinian has made all arrangements for the visit of the senator on Tuesday instead of tomorrow. As a result, his address for the night is at the hotel in Raleigh, N. C. He will probably discuss the tariff in the speech.

Ponce de Leon.

Sam DeGrasse, who plays the distraught, dejected, and dejected, is the drama of the underworld, now showing at the Ponce de Leon theater, is one of the screen's foremost character actors.

Tudor.

Bob Steele and Bryant Washburn have the leading roles of white men in the epic of the frontier at the Tudor theater today. "With Sittin' Bull at the Spirit Lake Massacre." As the title indicates, the story deals with the conflict between the Indians and the white men.

Cameo.

"Beau Geste" is showing again at the Cameo today and Tuesday. This successful attraction will long live as one of the outstanding productions of all time, and it is but little wonder that there is a demand for another showing of this great dramatic spectacle.

Empire.

"Two Arabian Knights," a colossal frolic of two doughboys who kidded themselves out of an enemy prison camp and into a hotbed of perils and predicaments to win an Arabian princess, starring William Boyd, Mary Astor and Lon Chaney, will be today and Tuesday's screen feature at the Empire theater.

Eighty-One Theater.

Manager Tom Bailey, of the 81 theater, at 81 DeSoto street, said Saturday night: "I have waited a full month later this season for my opening show for the big white mid-night frolic, and there is a reason. In the first place I was notified the 'Butterbean and Susie Revue' was headed south. That has always been the big attraction at 81 theater and this year they are much better than ever before. That's why I waited."

Monument to Craik.

Alexander, Va., October 14.—(AP)—A monument to James Craik, chief physician of the Continental army who was dedicated today at his grave in the yard of the old Presbyterian meeting house here.

Al Jolson Scores

Again in Second

Talkie Picture

Holding a capacity audience enthralled by the artistry of that great jazz singer, Al Jolson, "The Singing Fool," second opus of the famous star, opened a week's run at the Howard theater with a midnight show Sunday night which turned away hundreds.

Singing nine different songs in all, Jolson provided the overabundant crowd with entertainment par excellence, in addition to a wealth of dramatic plot and several highly touching sequences in which the singer proved himself no less of a notable in the spring field.

More pleasing even than "The Jazz Singer," which saw a record-breaking run here recently, "The Singing Fool" apparently in one week will show to more people than the former vehicle, providing so many can be crammed into the Howard from the morning opening time of 9 o'clock in the morning, until it closes at 11 o'clock each night.

Aiding greatly in the picture are Josephine Dunn, Betty Brown and eleven youngsters who plays the part of Jolson's son. Several clever and unusual scenes are centered around Jolson and the boy, who is the inspiration of the star's "hit" song, "Sonny Boy."

The republican national committee has arranged a nation-wide radio hook-up for Senator Curtis' address on Friday night at Trenton, N. J. He probably will discuss the tariff in the speech.

The new itinerary of the nominee for this week is as follows: Tuesday, reception at Petersburg, Va., noon; Raleigh, N. C., night; Wednesday, reception at Martinsburg, Md., noon; Wilmington, Del., night; Thursday, Camden, N. J., night; Friday, tour of Plainfield, N. J., and nearby cities to Flemington county fair; reception in Newark, 6 p. m.; speech at Trenton, 8 p. m.; Saturday, New Haven, Conn., reception at noon; Hartford, Conn., at night.

The following week Curtis will spend three days in upper New York and Massachusetts and then swing into Ohio, Indiana and Missouri to be visited during the final days of the campaign and the senate probably will wind up his tour at Wichita, Kans., on the Saturday night before election. A reception for him at To-star piano performer, is now with this big revue.

Manager Bailey is leaving nothing undone to make this opening frolic Friday midnight the topnotch of the past two seasons. Seats now on sale at the theater, 81 DeSoto street, and Jacobs' pharmacy, Five Points store.

WEEKLY REVIEW

OF COTTON MARKET

New Orleans, October 14.—(AP)—The dominating influence in the cotton market during the past week was the government's forecast of the crop, which was 13,983,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight. While this estimate was less than 100,000 bales below the average guess of the private authorities who issued advance estimates it was fully half a million bales below some of the higher estimates and 440,000 bales below its own forecast based on September 1 conditions. At any rate the figure given proved smaller than the average trader expected and prices promptly shot upward 84 points or a shade over $4 a bale.

As not infrequently happens in such cases the sudden sharp upturn brought about a good deal of trade buying on the scale down as well as price fixing by spinners both domestic and foreign, and there was also more or less covering by shorts in anticipation of the Columbus day holiday of Friday.

This covering and trade buying was helped by the appearance of a cold wave in the northwest which many traders feared might descend on the belt, causing killing frost in the more northerly portions where there is still considerable late cotton liable to frost damage. These various causes led to rallies before the close on Thursday

"A population of 500,000 by 1932" is Atlanta's slogan. Let's all pull together for a Greater Atlanta.

The Constitution's Weekly Business Review

EDITED BY M. D. GLEASON

There is hardly a need or a want that cannot be filled in Atlanta's stores and factories.

Gholstin Spring Bed Co. Reports Growing Business

The Gholstin Spring and Mattress company, through its manager, L. D. White, last week announced that business is much better than at this time last year. Mr. White further added the opinion that business is going to be better than it has been in the last few months. Activity will be conservative, he believes, but there is business to be had by the progressive merchant whose prices are right and who displays his goods attractively.

"It is our judgment those merchants who cater to the retail trade should fill all holes which now exist in their stock," Mr. White stated. "We do not mean that large or heavy purchases should be made, but we do mean that the merchant should be in position to supply promptly any reasonable demand upon him by his trade. The merchant who is in position to do this will get what business there is."

"Every article of merchandise in our house is being manufactured on the basis of present cost prices with a fair margin of profit added, and is being offered to the trade on a substantial basis and not on a temporary unloading proposition. This old, established and conservative house continues its policy of supplying quality merchandise at reasonable prices and giving prompt service. We want and solicit patronage of those who agree with us that quality is economy and who place a higher value on their reputation for satisfactory dealings than on the mere matter of dollars and cents represented by profits not warranted by the quality of merchandise supplied."

"We suggest that you look over your stock in our line and if you find that you are short of anything in mattresses, spring beds, cots or pillows, that you communicate with us promptly, outlining your approximate requirements and give us an opportunity to supply your needs. As above stated, we suggest small and frequent purchases because the transportation systems have been able to clear up congested traffic and are now in position to make frequent and prompt deliveries. Atlanta is a buyers' market and the manufacturers are not over-run with orders as in the past. The retail merchant is, therefore, in position to pick and choose in order that he may supply his trade with the best the markets afford and firmly establish his reputation for satisfactory dealings."

While the Gholstin company has been in business more than 40 years, 28 years in its present location—it recently woke up the fact that its corner at Spring and Nelson streets have become among Atlanta's busiest. In addition to having heavy retail traffic, it is the center of the great Southern railway office building and hundreds of people pass in and out hourly.

Mr. White invites all old and new friends to drop in and see the company whenever they are in Atlanta.

DIXIE SEAL CO. REPAIRS MANY SMALL ARTICLES

It doesn't happen often, but when it does you may find that a check writer out of fix is an expensive article, or at least quite a nuisance. A numbering machine that doesn't run regularly is conducive to bad language. Most of the time these machines need only a good cleaning and new pads. The Dixie Seal & Stamp Co., 83 Poplar street, Atlanta, has a specialist in work of this sort who can repair almost any kind of office appliance.

Nearly every concern that ships boxes of any size uses stencil machines. These need an occasional cleaning, and maybe a part or two. The Dixie will sell you a new machine and take your old one in or repair it at as reasonable a price as it can be done. Such fine articles as surveyors' instruments are put in first class working shape by this well known concern. J. L. Moore is known all over this section as an expert at that particular work.

Along with repair work the company can also make all sort of small metal articles—special springs, screws, tools, dies for stamping and blanking metal—press work of all sorts, models for inventors, and will supply expert advice and help on all kinds of metal "contraptions."

You will find this to be a real "department shop," dealing in rubber stamps, stencils, steel stamps and dies, metal checks, plates, tags, signs, multi-graphing and mimeographing.

For Many Reasons Atlanta Should Have a Mooring Mast

BY M. D. GLEASON.

The long voyage of the giant dirigible Graf Zeppelin carrying passengers and mail has demonstrated the claims of its backers and paved the way for more large air ships and the experiences of this voyage will be of great value to other commercial air line companies that may be formed in the months to come.

While this present large airship comes from the southern part of Germany, it will not take a very wise prophet to prophesy that Yankee ingenuity and enterprise will not be long in following Germany's lead in putting some of these large airships to commercial use in this country and in the not distant future we will hear of these air ships leaving their home ports and circling this country with passengers, merchandise and mails.

One of the first air lines that may suggest itself as a profitable line would be a line from Lakehurst, N. J., to South American points for it is well known that this country and our southern neighbors are just on the threshold of much greater business and an air line between them would be the principle cities of South America would greatly stimulate the trade relations between all North America and South America for where the mail time is greatly reduced between two given points money can work to greater advantage.

While these giant airships can go several thousands of miles without tying up to a mooring mast, yet forced stops will occasionally be necessary and no matter if they fly north or south, east or west over this country Atlanta will never be far off the favorite "lanes" of travel and adequate provision should be made at Candler field by the proper authorities to take care of two or more of these large airships at one time.

As Atlanta already owns a large tract of land there and it is well lighted up at night and with light towers already guiding the air flyers to and from this field and more to be installed soon, Candler field would be a haven of hope for any large ship in trouble and the same field could be made the junction point of large airships coming from different points of the compass and mail and passengers transferred here and hurried on to their destination.

That Atlanta's geographical location is eminently the best of the large cities in this country for a base for these air ships no one who is a close student of the all-year-around weather conditions that prevail here and the 365 days of weather in the other large cities of this country, can do ought else but agree that a large airship would have less hours of hazard in a year here than elsewhere.

To substantiate this claim for Atlanta the velocity of the winds here do not attain any near the high mileage an hour it sometimes attains in the other large cities north of the Appalachian mountains, nor does this city seem to lay in the path of the tropical storms or hurricanes of the Gulf region and the great outstanding factor in Atlanta's favor is that, due to its high altitude, no heavy fogs—such as the lane of all navigators—are seen here.

From an advertising standpoint Atlanta could spend upwards of $100,000 in any other way and yet never get a small part of the free advertising it would get if it had a large mooring mast out at Candler field, and from a business standpoint, if the great navy Zeppelin, Los Angeles, that recently passed over Atlanta, should have tied up here for a few hours it is safe to say that 100,000 or more people would have come into Atlanta from all directions and much money would have been spent with the merchants. Should a mooring mast be there today and the giant Graf Zeppelin, so far off its originally planned course it would be a logical stopping place in the way to Los Angeles, and if that big airship was tied up at Candler field today Atlanta would be the center of the greatest crowd in its history and it has had many large crowds in its day.

Some wise sage has said "you cannot reach with the state that has passed" and the giant German Zeppelin will undoubtedly arrive at Los Angeles not far from its scheduled time and then its return trip will have to be planned, and its course in this country, without the choice of its commander, will be from mooring mast to mooring mast, and the big ship should be worth many mooring masts to the merchants and people of Atlanta.

Officials of Storage Firm Are Pleased With Business

"The confidence reposed in us by our many friends and the moving public is gratifying indeed," says Harry Zabab, manager of the Zabab Storage company, of 12-14 Spring street, S. W.

"Our business has never been better than at the present time, yet we are not rushed or crowded for time to do any certain job, be it moving, packing, shipping or storing, for we began in time to anticipate good business and added to our facilities where it would do us the most good."

"In our rolling stock," continued Mr. Zabab, "we added one large van after another until we now have a fleet of them around Atlanta or out on the country roads. Some are carrying furniture or merchandise to the machine itself in front of them, the visitors could see right over it moving pictures taken last fall in the west. There pictures showed first the operation and then beneficial results obtained on the same soil."

The visitors could see that subsoiling did not mean just deep plowing. They could see machines with one, three or five chisel point prongs that went from 18 inches to 48 inches down in the ground and broke up the hard earth, so that it might act as a reservoir to catch all heavy rains and thus save the excessive rains to supply plant life with an abundance of moisture long after the last rain has fallen.

Officials of Yancey Bros., Inc., are also pleased over the live interest that progressive farmers, fruit and nut growers are taking in these deep subsoiling and they give out the statement that the quicker the man working the land learns the great benefits to be obtained in subsoiling, just that soon will he derive greater benefits from his own land.

The exhibit this year at the fair was in charge of O. K. Griffith, assisted by W. E. Brack, J. R. Brooks and C. L. Patch, farm salesmen; J. F. Bracewell, contractors equipment salesman, and J. L. Jennings, who was in charge of the moving pictures, music and radio programs.

Yancey Brothers will cooperate with every reliable progressive farmer or contractor who wants to use improved equipment to get better results, and upon request will mail attractive catalogues to all who are interested. A letter to 624 Whitehall street will reach the company.

other cities and some are bringing loads into Atlanta.

"What would surprise most people is to see the enormous amount of furniture our experienced men can load in these big vans and the ease with which they can get to their destination. Even though the weather is damp or raining, furniture entrusted to us is well protected and laid down in the new home without getting wet or damaged in any way."

"We are especially proud of our latest truck, an extra large Mack truck built with a special bus chassis and with a body of all-steel construction. It rolls on the best made pneumatic tires and this will insure safety service for local and long distance moves. The addition of this new large van is our way of showing our appreciation of the splendid trade our many friends have been giving us, and they can rest assured of continued good service, for we are now better prepared to render it."

"In our storage warehouse rooms we have added the services of the Orkin Exterminating company. While we have never been bothered to any great extent with mice or rats, we want our customers to know that we take every precaution to safeguard all the things they may store with us. As we never give a moth a chance to live in our storage rooms, our customers need never worry about what ever they place in our charge for safekeeping."

Good Envelopes Convey Character of Business

The bureau of envelope manufacturers of America has as its slogan "Before your envelope speaks a word, your envelope has spoken." Not as well known a slogan as "Say it with flowers" and others, but certainly an expressive slogan and one that is literally true.

S. Guthman, president of the Atlanta Envelope company, is the dean of envelope-makers in the south. He has long been a stickler for attractive envelopes and it is due largely to his efforts that there has been such a vogue for envelopes printed in colors during recent years.

"The use of two colors of ink instead of one," states Mr. Guthman, "and the choice of a tasteful colored paper stock instead of plain white, will very often add immeasurably to the attractiveness and effectiveness of an envelope."

The Atlanta Envelope company is not only the largest manufacturer of commercial envelopes exclusively in the southeast, but also transacts quite a volume of commercial printing. During recent months the company has devoted much of its energies to fine folder and booklet printing, such as is demanded by advertisers.

Only a few days ago the company received a letter from one of the most critical advertising agency men in the city commending on the success achieved by the Atlanta Envelope company's printing department. This letter from the agency executive read in part as follows:

"I have just received the last folder and I want to thank you for the nice printing job. The last two or three jobs that you have done for us have been fine. The way the halftones were printed in the last job is just as good as any fine printing company can do. Once in a while we make a kick, but when we have a boost it is a pleasure to try to equalize things."

Yancey Bros. Will Cooperate With Progressive Farmers

The farm and heavy machinery exhibit of Yancey Brothers, Inc., shown at the recent Southeastern fair was probably one of the largest machinery exhibits ever shown in this part of the country.

Among the machines were four different tractors, with the Big Six heading the list. There were several different sizes of Rex concrete-mixers, Rex pavers, Jones saw rigs, Ingeol air compressors, Barnes road pumps, Adams leaning wheel graders, asphalt distributors, beaters and tools, road plows, truck loaders, street sweepers and sprinklers, turntables and other heavy tools.

One of the many machines that drew attention every day of the fair was the Killefer subsoiler. With

MEXICANS DENOUNCE LEGION AS KILLERS

Mexico City, October 4.—(AP)—The arrival of 100 members of the American legion in Mexico City was the occasion today of a display of posters denouncing them as "assassins, strike-breakers and American fascists." The posters, signed by the artist, Diego Rivera, secretary general of the Mexican section of the Anti-Imperialist

League of America, were stuck up on the walls of the American consulate and other buildings throughout the city.

The legion men will spend several days here and tomorrow at the home of Thomas A. Robinson, the son-in-law of President Calles, is a member of the executive committee of the American legion for Mexico.

The posters urge Mexicans to refrain from greeting the visitors. They said that despite the visit of Colonel Lindbergh and Ambassador Morrow's endeavors, there can be no friendship until the United States takes its hands off Latin America.

METHODIST PRIMARY TO BE HELD IN MACON

October 28 Set for Consideration of Appointments.

BY REV. J. O. J. TAYLOR.

(Written for The Associated Press.)

McKee, Ga., October 14.—(AP)—The "primary" of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, has been called for October 28, to meet in Macon. At this time the bishop and his cabinet, consisting of ten presiding elders will meet in Macon, and will make a tentative list of appointments.

Some days before this "primary," each presiding elder is furnished with eleven copies of a blank on which are listed the names of the preachers, the charges and the new appointments. These have come to be known through the conferences as the "working sheets," and this meeting before the conference session has come to be called the "primary."

Considerable interest attaches to the working out of these matters, especially when three presiding elders districts will go open as in the case this year. According to the law of the church, a presiding elder can serve only four years consecutively on a district. Hence three who have been for four years on districts will leave the cabinet at this session of the conference. These are Rev. J. P. Bell, of the Columbus district; Rev. N. H. Williams, of the Waycross district; and Rev. E. M. Overby, of the Americus district.

The close of the conference year brings to an end one of the most interesting experiments that has ever been tried in its history. For the first time in sixty-two years, the conference tried to operate an entire presiding elder's district without any assistance from the board of missions of the conference. This experiment was attempted in the McKee district, over which Rev. J. C. G. Brooks is presiding elder.

It is a well-known policy of the church that in many places where due to smallness of membership or other local conditions the churches are weak, the board of missions of the conference will subsidize the salaries of the preachers sent to these charges.

Whether due to the unusual rains, or the storms, it is not yet known, but the experiment did not entirely succeed in this district, and before the year was completed, it was necessary for the board of missions to again come to the aid of some of the preachers.

There are many who feel that the unusual year should be taken into consideration, and that there is still hope that this shall become the permanent policy of the conference—that every district shall be independent within its own bounds.

GOVERNOR ELUDES CROWD BY TAKING WALK TO STATION

Louisville, Ky., October 14.—(AP)—Governor Smith experienced the unusual tonight in arriving at the station here to board his train without his approach being heralded by the shout of a crowd.

The crowd was on hand all right but it was expecting to see the democratic nominee whisked to the station platform in a big limousine—instead he arrived on foot and he and his party were almost members of the crowd before they were recognized.

This came about as a result of the nominee getting out of the automobile after it had left the hotel and walking to the station.

But when he was recognized at the station the crowd let out the usual whoop and the democratic standard bearer took off the brown derby for a parting wave.

A GOOD CORNER

In the new district of the Fourth Ward, devoted to light industries, we have for sale a corner with over 20,000 square feet of ground area. At 70 cents per square foot this will be a good purchase for a business home, or a location for stores and service station. Ask for Mr. Stokes or Mr. Robinson.
